[Music] you [Music] I'm Jacob Hornberger president of the future of Freedom Foundation at 8:00 p.m. on November 22nd 1963 an honor guard consisting the members of the various branches of the US military proceeded to carry into the morgue at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center military installation the casket that contained the president's body president john f kennedy's body this was a beautiful ornate casket to which the president body had been placed back in Parkland Hospital in Dallas at that same time a p.m. Navy commander James Humes one of the three pathologists who were going to carry out an autopsy on the president's body telephoned Army lieutenant colonel Pierre Fink they told think that he and the other pathologist J thorne Boswell needed his assistance during that telephone conversation he told think that x-rays on the president's head had already been carried out that naturally raises a question given that the body was being brought in to the morgue at 8 p.m. by this honor guard how is it possible that they had already carried out x-rays on the President's head ponder that question but setting aside we will return to it in a later segment in 1969 some six years after the Kennedy assassination there's a criminal case it's being brought in in New Orleans Louisiana it was a case in which the district attorney in New Orleans Jim Garrison was prosecuting a man in clay Shaw and in this case garrison is alleging that would happened on November 22nd 1963 was actually a highly sophisticated regime-change operation that was carat being carried out by the national security establishment on national security establishment on grounds of national security one in which they removed the democratically elected president of the country and replaced him through the Constitution the elevation of the Vice President Lyndon Johnson into the presidency in fact it was this particular criminal case that inspired many years later in 1991 Oliver Stone's movie JFK which as we've noted gave rise to the Jim okay Records Act and the assassination records review board the ARR B during this criminal case Pierre Fink is summoned to testify by the defense and on cross-examination the prosecutor begins to ask him about the autopsy and specifically about the wound in the president's neck yes Colonel Fink did you dissect the neck and what he meant by that as if section it like we previously discussed with the brain you slice it like a loaf of bread in order to study the trajectory of the bullet and think said no we didn't do that and the prosecutor not and think gives us roundabout indirect answer no doubt thinking the prosecutor would accept it and just move on out this prosecutor this prosecutor said okay well but why didn't you section the neck think gives again an indirect answering okay why didn't you section the neck same gives us indirect and forget it by this time the prosecutor realizes he's not gonna answer this question unless he's ordered to and so the judge turns I mean the prosecutor turns to the judge and says Your Honor would you order him to answer the question judge says Colonel Frank answered the question at this point Fink is trying to think says the reason I didn't section it was because I was meaning in an autopsy is the pathologist who in charge but clearly here in this military structure there is somebody on military structure there is somebody on top of think who is giving orders on this autopsy in fact thank disclose that even commander Humes during the autopsy asked who's actually in charge here and somebody piped up I'm in charge here possibly the same person that ordered Fink to stay away from the neck wound but we don't know the identity of that person later Fink submitted a written report to his commanding officer where he disclosed that he during the autopsy he asked to see the president's clothes standard procedure he wants to see how the gunshot wound lines up in the clothes with the gun shots on the on the body he was told you cannot see the clothes so here you have more mysteries you have x-rays that are taking on the president's head before the body is being brought in and then you have somebody ordering the pathologist's how to carry out this autopsy and to refrain from doing what they're supposed to be doing [Music]
